WESTERN SAHARA: Guerrillas Move SA-6 Missiles

Polisario Front guerrillas have moved SA-6 surface-to-air missile equipment east of the Moroccan-built defensive barrier in Western Sahara. [REDACTED]

25X1

Over the past month, the guerrillas have harassed Moroccan positions along the defensive line with artillery fire, and they may have brought in the SA-6 system to support a larger attack. Rabat expects the insurgents to attempt to breach the barrier and has been sending reinforcements to the area. [REDACTED]
